Laura Blanco

HIS STUDY

Most writers yearn for a quiet place, an unbreachable inner sanctum in which to unleash the imagination. Laura Blanco has created the perfect retreat for introspection and an acknowledgement of New York's cultural heritage viewed through the eyes of authors who have intimate knowledge of the city, such as Edith Wharton and Louis Auchincloss. Neutral-toned surfaces provide a hospitable background for the tools of inspiration: an eclectic art collection, a contemporary carpet, a William & Mary-style walnut writing desk, a 19th-c. French fauteuil and a comfortable wing chair.

"Bretonne" Wing Chair, "Sévigné" Screen: Niermann Weeks. Writing Table, Bookcase: Scott Thomas. Chair: Amy Perlin Antiques. Watercolor: Paul Ching-Bor, Spanierman Gallery. Rug: French Accents. Vase: Baccarat. Coconut Shell Frames: Maitland-Smith. Paint: Benjamin Moore.
